

LOSS OVER A MILLION
ON PORTLAND'S FIREFLAMES SWEEP HER DOCKS
SUNDAY NIGHT.

Wharf, Freight Cars and an Immense Amount of Freight and Grain Destroyed—Three Lives Lost—Other Fires in Different Parts of the Country.

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 24.—The most disastrous fire in the history of this city broke out at 4:30 yesterday afternoon in the dock of the Pacific Coast Elevator company and raged for three hours, destroying property valued at nearly $1,500,000.

Three lives are thought to be lost, as follows:
ANDERSON, CHARLES.
BROWN.
MURRAY.

All day long a heavy wind had been blowing and alarms for nine fires had been turned in. The fire department was scattered about the city looking after the small fires when the alarm from the elevator was rung in. When the engines arrived the fire was beyond control, and in half an hour from the time it started the docks for half a mile were on fire. Nothing could be done but to let the fire burn itself out.

The fire started in the dock below the Pacific Coast Elevator company's main building, and the wind soon drove the flames to the elevator itself. The flames shot into the air 200 feet, making a beautiful sight in the twilight. The coal bunkers of the North Pacific Terminal company, on the west, were next attacked and soon were a seething mass of flames. On the east was the Oregon Railway and Navigation company's wharf, 400 feet in length, and this, too, was soon on fire. There was no means of getting water on the fire except from the river, and the fireboat is an improvised old scow and of little service. The elevator contained nearly half a million bushels of wheat.

The new plant of the Portland General Electric company, which had just arrived from Lynn, Mass., was standing in the yards of the Terminal company on the cars, not having been unloaded. The plant occupied an entire train and the machinery was of the most expensive kind, most of which was destroyed and the remainder badly damaged. Two hundred freight cars, eighty of which were loaded, were destroyed. The Oregon Railway & Navigation docks held 1,500 tons of freight, consisting of wool, salmon, general merchandise and cement, all of which was destroyed with the dock. There were stored on the dock about 12,000 cases of salmon from the lower Columbia river and Puget sound awaiting shipment to the east. It was valued at $40,000 and was partly insured.

Every available locomotive at the Terminal works was set to work moving freight cars out of danger, but the fire burned so rapidly that few could be moved away. Sparks from the fire went across the river and set fire to the boneyard, but it was extinguished before any serious damage to the yard was done. The large steamboat Williamette Chief, moored at the yard, took fire and was burned. It was used as a towboat and valued at about $45,000.

Three men are supposed to have perished in the elevator. They were seen at an upper story window of the elevator and it is thought all were burned.

The losses, as near as can be ascertained, will be over $1,000,000. The insurance carried will reach more than $500,000.

Caused by Spontaneous Combustion.
NORWALK, Ohio, Sept. 24.—The grain elevator of E. S. Tuttle of this city is totally destroyed by fire yesterday morning at 2 o'clock. The building was valued at $3,300, with insurance of $1,500. Tuttle's loss on contents is $7,500, insured for $5,000. The fire is supposed to have started from spontaneous combustion.

NOW FREE FROM ROME.

Catholic Church in America to Govern Itself Hereafter.

NEW YORK, Sept. 24.—There seems to be no doubt that Bishop Keane of the Catholic university at Washington, is the bearer of a rescript from Pope Leo XIII, which will be read to the assembled Catholic archbishops of the United States at Philadelphia on Oct. 10, and which will make an epoch in the history of the Catholic church in this country. The document which Bishop Keane is said to have with him removes the United States entirely from under the authority of the college of the propaganda of the faith and makes the American church entirely self-governing except in the matters of faith, in which it still submits, of course, to the see of Peter. Mgr. Satolli's powers are increased and his field of jurisdiction is broadened and he is confirmed as the permanent apostolic delegate in the United States.

This action of Leo XIII. is considered as a mark of entire approval and endorsement of Mgr. Satolli's course in this country, and it can not but be construed as a rebuke for those prelates who tried to discredit him and to interfere with his mission.

Another most important rumor in connection with the matter is that after awhile Mgr. Satolli will be withdrawn and an American will be appointed as papal delegate, thus completing the autonomy of the Catholic church in the United States.

The action of the pope is a direct blow at the Ultramontanes and Jesuits, who have placed themselves more or less in antagonism to modern thought and progressive ideas. It is a decision in favor of the people and the priests against the majority of the bishops and it places the Catholic church officially on record as endorsing American institutions and declaring as acceptable to Catholic faith the American idea of total separation of church and state. It does not, however, affect in the slightest degree any dogma of faith held or taught by the church. It relates only to matters of discipline and local government in things not of faith. Every question affecting the welfare of the church in America will be decided by the church here itself with the aid of the papal delegate. Such cases as that of Dr. McGlynn will not now be referred to Rome but will be settled by an American tribunal.

Dr. Wharton, the Baptist evangelist, was one of the speakers. In the evening a meeting was held in the interest of temperance work among railroad men. To-morrow the secret sessions of the representatives of the six organizations will begin and plans for federation will be discussed. The questions of Sunday rest, working hours and compulsory arbitration will also be considered. Over 300 delegates from all parties of the country are in attendance.

A falling wall came very nearly burying 300 or 300 spectators, who owe their escape entirely to the fact that the wall angled in the center. The loss is estimated to be $70,000, and the insurance is about $30,000.

RIOT OVER THE NOMINATION

Followers of Candidates for Congressional Honors Engage in a Fight.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Sept. 24.—A riot occurred at Gatlingburg, Tenn., last night between the partisans of John C. Houk and Henry Gibson, rival republican candidates for congress. While Congressman Houk was addressing a large audience in the Baptist church several of Gibson's supporters attempted to howl him down and great excitement followed. During the confusion Deputy Sheriff Seaton entered the church with a warrant for one of Gibson's leaders for pistol carrying. As he grabbed his prisoner some of his followers jumped on the deputy and a fight began. Pistols were flourished, stones thrown, and fifteen fought like tigers for several minutes. When the law conquered it was found Avery Codell, leader of the Gibson men, had his skull crushed from blows from the butt end of a pistol and Redmond Maples, who had been summoned by the deputy, also had his skull crushed. Both of them are fatally injured. Several others were seriously injured.

At a meeting resolutions were adopted declaring that before the strikers go back to work contractors and manufacturers must raise wages on piece work to the old scale, which is double the present one; that they must deposit $200 each with the union as a guarantee of payment of wages, and $100 as a forfeit in case of any reduction during the next six months. NEWS OF THE DAY FROM ABROAD

Japan-Chinese War Must Be Fought Out—Bismarck Praises Emperor William.

TOKIO, Japan, Sept. 8, via Victoria, B. C., Sept. 24.—Gen. Count Amagata, who suppressed the great Satsuma rebellion, has sailed for the seat of war as commander in chief. He declared to members of his escort he would drive every Chinese soldier out of Corea within two months. Nothing can end this war but the defeat of Japan or the surrender of China unless the Czar intercedes—and there is a well-defined rumor here that the Russian troops have already crossed the Umen river. An Englishman from Siberia says he was in Vladivostok a few days ago and that 20,000 troops were concentrated on the border. Three thousand Cossacks had just marched to the coast, and their commanding officer said he could not understand the meaning of his orders.

It is beyond Japan's power to declare peace now. The whole nation is on fire with military enthusiasm, and already the native press talks about the conquest of China and India. The reckless confidence of the French at the beginning of the war with Germany was modest compared with the headlong madness of the Japanese leaders.

BRITAIN'S HOSTILITY TO FRANCE.

War May Be Necessary to Put Down French Aggression.

LONDON, Sept. 24.—The threatened attack on Madagascar is the subject of constant communication between Lord Rosebery and Sig. Crispien, prime minister of Italy. The tone of the British press in regard to French aggression is extremely hostile, but nothing so significant has appeared as some of the articles which have been published in the inspired provincial papers like the Sheffield Telegraph, which declares that the time has come for war with France in order to put down its aggressions against British colonies.

Lilly of the Northern Iowa Normal school came in from Garner and reports thirteen dead in Ellington township, north of Garner, twelve near Vanley Junction, and sixteen north of Britt. Coffins for dead are piled up at every station. Particulars are coming in all the time which indicate that half the horrors of the cyclone have not yet been told. The scene of desolation was visited all day by great crowds, every available conveyance being chartered. The destruction of property will not be less than $100,000. Most of the farmers are well-to-do, with snug bank accounts, but a number of the victims were renters, who lost everything.

WIND STORM IN ILLINOIS.

Considerable Damage Done to Property and Crops.

PRINCETON, Ill., Sept. 24.—A high wind storm prevailed throughout this section early yesterday morning, which, with the heavy rains of Saturday, have greatly damaged the corn crop. The corn stalks are leveled to the ground and will cause much of the crop to decay and also render it more difficult to gather.

FAIRBURY, Ill., Sept. 24.—This section was visited by a storm of unusual violence last night. The rain, which fell in torrents, was accompanied by a regular gale and continual sharp lightning and thunder. The rain and wind did the most damage to the corn crop, as it is leveled to the ground. Lightning struck several places, doing considerable damage.

Cyclone Sufferers Destitute.

LEROY, Minn., Sept. 24.—The cyclone sufferers are in a very destitute condition. The loss will exceed $100,000. Thirty families are entirely destitute and many business men have lost their all. Money is needed badly. The local relief committee is doing all in their power, which is limited.

BIG WEEK OF RACING
BEGINS TO-MORROWELEVEN CARS OF HORSES FROM MILWAUKEE.

Hot Contests on the Card for the First Day—Sensations That Have Been Developed This Year in the Harness Events—What Will Be Next?

Eleven car loads of horses arrived in the city yesterday for the races at the driving park this week. The horses were all from the state fair at Milwaukee. They made quite a cavalcade passing down from the St. Paul depot on their way to the park. It is quite in keeping with the history of the year to have all sorts of surprises on the Janesville track this year. This has been a summer of sensations among the harness horses. Erratic flying jib started it by pacing a heat in 2:07 at the Saganaw meeting early in July.

As August approached and the mercury soared higher, the sensations thickened. Ryland T. lowered the mark for geldings to 2:07½ and Hamlin's Robert J., gave the Cleveland track a new record of 2:05½, at the same covering the mile in the fastest time of the meeting.

The next two weeks at Buffalo nearly a score of trotters and pacers negotiated the mile in the neighborhood of 2:10 or better. At the close of the Buffalo meeting Rochester and Terre Haute had the trotters and pacers, the western city getting the better division. At Terre Haute during the week, August 13-18, a number of records were attacked and shattered. On August 16, the then unbeaten Missouri stallion, Joe Patchen, defeated the unbeaten pacer, Rubenstein, in straight heats, which were the fastest ever paced in a race of the 2:30 class, the time for the first three heats being 2:06½, 2:06 and 2:09½. The 2:06 was the fastest paced by a stallion this year.

On the following day three new world's records were established on the 2:04 track. Sweet Little Alix won the third and last heat in the free-for-all trot in 2:05½, which equaled the trotting race record made by Directum, but which, with the 2:06 and 2:07½ miles, the first two heats made the world's record for three heats, the average being 2:05 5/16. Only four days later Alix trotted a mile in 2:05½ over the Washington park track in Chicago and the exhibition was pronounced by nearly all the horsemen present to be the greatest ever made in the sulky. It reduced the track record of 2:06½ held by Nancy Hanks, and while it fell a second and a quarter short of the world's record, was really a better performance, conditions considered. The Washington park track is at least a second and a half slow. It has not been so fast as formerly, since the new loam was placed on it before the June running meeting, and is in need of a good, hard rain, which Chicago has not had for some weeks. All the drivers agreed that the track is slow, and with great unanimity pronounced Alix's performance the greatest mile ever trotted.

Patronage, the sire of Alix, is fourteen years old, by Ponceas, out of Beatrice, by Cuyler, and is regarded as an uncertain foal getter. Atlanta, dam of Alix, is a bay mare eleven years old, by Attorney (son of Harold and Maud, by Alexander Abdallah) out of Flirt, by General Hatch, and she out of Dolly, by Iowa, son of imported Glencoe. She is owned by G. D. Gould, of Fullerton, Neb., who has declined to return her to Patronage. Alix is now in hands that will not allow her to sleep on conquests. She must be up and at them all the time. Mr. Salisbury is wiser than a serpent and Andy McDowell is a hustler.

The day after Alix's great mile the Washington park track was the scene of another sensational performance. Directum and Carbonate, the two year old pacers, met in a match race. Directum won very easily in 2:12. This just equaled the colt's Buffalo record, which was the fastest ever made by a two year old, and confirms the impression then made that Directum was the coming pacer of the age. Friday, August 24, was made notable in the world of harness racing by the Waterloo for Joe Patchen, the St. Louis stallion losing to Robert J. in three straight heats, which were paced in 2:05, 2:06½, and 2:06½. Thus it will be seen that the record of the three fastest heats in a pace was broken, the average being 2:06.

To crown the week's work, Directum on Saturday, lowered the world's pacing record for animals of his age, pacing in the face of a strong breeze and on an indifferent track, in 2:10½, destroying Online's record of 2:11 and equalling the trotting record of 2:10½, made by Arion as a two-year-old. Next he cut this to 2:07½.

And then came Robert J.'s sensational performance at Terre Haute, when he paced a mile in 2:01½ while Alix makes the fastest mile ever trotted, 2:03½.

The racing over the Janesville track begins at 1:30 sharp tomorrow. There will be no 2:01½ but the speed shown will make people's hair curl none the less. The entries for tomorrow are:

"Hall to the Chief."

This is the title of an old song. The ballad is, "Who is the chief?" The public, the press and the medical profession chant this refrain as especially applicable to Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, chief among the American remedies and preventatives for malaria, constipation, dyspepsia, liver complaint, nervousness, unquiet sleep, rheumatic twinges, and the troubles incident to advanced age. It is also universally recognized as a reliable tonic and appetizer. As a family medicine particularly suitable to emergencies it has no equal. The result follows. The convalescent, the aged and the infirm derive infinite benefit from its use. Against the influences of impure air, water, unaccustomed food, overwork and exposure it is a genuine preventive.

A FAIR ON SUNDAY
WITH BEER ON TAP.NEW STATE AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY MOVE.

Janesville Stockholders Think the Change Is Very Improbable—President Hubbard Talks on the Subject, and Says the Society Must Have More Money in Some Way.

E. B. Heimstreet denies the probability of beer selling at the state fair and says the fair will not be opened on Sunday.

"At least," said he, "there is no ground for such a declaration as yet."

Milwaukee reporters interviewed all the prominent stockholders on the subject last week and most of them were strongly opposed to the innovations. They said they should vote against any such move. The state appropriation of $4,000 for the assistance of the society has a string on it, the string being the condition that no beer shall be sold on the grounds during the fair.

Under the present relations with the state the Agricultural society can do one of two things—open the fair on Sunday without beer or lose the state appropriation by voting to sell beer privileges. President Hubbard is the only one who is quoted as saying that an attempt will be made to change the conditions at the next legislature.

More Money or More Liberty.

"I think," he stated, "that we shall try to get for the Agricultural society either more money or more liberty, which will amount to the same thing. I feel sure that the new administration will be a unit to conduct the state fair on purely business principles and that, I think, will force us to change our relations with the state as I have indicated. There are a number of liberal men on the new executive board who think as I do in regard to this matter and it is quite possible that the management will be more liberal next year. It is quite possible that the next state fair will be open on Sunday and that beer will be sold on the grounds."

If it is decided to keep the fair open on Sunday, the fair will begin on Friday.

SCHILLING AGAINST THE WEALTHY

Populist Orator Proves that Money-Getting Is a Desperate Crime.

A crowd of two or three hundred people were attracted to the corn exchange Saturday evening by the announcement that Robert Schilling of Milwaukee, would make a political speech from the standpoint of a populist. Mr. Schilling spoke from a wagon in front of McLean's livery stable. As a manipulator of facts and conjurer with figures he showed himself an expert. He first endeavored to bewilder his audience with tariff figures, and proved to his own satisfaction that democrats and republicans were alike corrupt, and that populists only lacked wings to be angels. It was a crime to accumulate wealth, he insisted. He would down all corporations, the government should own all railways and telegraph lines, and banks, and he went further with this policy by declaring that cities should own their water works, and light and gas plants. "What do you pay your water company here for water?" he asked. "Seven dollars a month for an eight-room house," some one answered.

"Here is my last receipt for water rent in Milwaukee for three months. This is for my printing office, and I dare say that I use more water than a family residing in an eight-room house. My quarterly receipt is seventy-five cents, or three dollars for a year. Milwaukee owns the plant, and I understand your plant is owned by a corporation or private parties." The storm came on, and the meeting was hurriedly closed.

SOME WELL KNOWN FACES

The Young Women's Christian Association.

The first Young Women's Christian association came into being in 1872, but it was not until 1886 that the International Young Women's Christian association was formed. During the eight years that have elapsed since that time the International association has grown steadily and solidly, and now there are over 300 associations in 38 states, in 19 of which there are thoroughly organized state associations. The president of the international association and one of its most enthusiastic and efficient leaders is Mrs. John V. BUYING A HAT SETTLED HIM.

A Janesville Man Satisfied That It Pays to Shop at Home.

Did you ever try to buy your wife a hat? If not, you will be interested in the experience of a gentleman who recently visited Chicago with that laudable undertaking in view. After exhausting the local hat establishments in a fruitless search for something satisfactory, a saleslady said to the enthusiastic hat hunters:

"I will give you a letter of introduction to the millinery department at Gossage's and you can have the benefit of selecting from a larger stock." The next day they landed in Chicago on an early train, and found, that while Gossages had a good stock of hats, the styles did not meet their expectations. They visited Marshall Fields', Mayers' and a dozen other establishments and finally at 3 o'clock in the afternoon sat down at a lunch counter, tired out and still hatless. Finally in sheer desperation the husband said:

"I know of one other place down on State street, where they keep hats. We'll try that."

On the first floor of the State street place they were referred to the millinery department in the basement, which they visited, only to meet with disappointment. A salesman suggested that possibly they might see something in the order department on the second floor. As they stepped from the elevator they were confronted by a hat rack full of gorgeous creations, and picking up the first one presented, the frantic husband said:

"How much for that hat?"

"Twelve dollars."

"Box it up, and be quick about it, for my train goes in thirty minutes."

The conclusion arrived at by the shoppers as they rode homeward was that the difficulties met in local stores were no greater than those Chicago could furnish and that it paid to buy goods in the home market.

LOOTING A STORE.

HARDWARE STOCK IN EVANSVILLE THEIR MARK.

Panel Cut From the Side Door and Revolvers and Cutlery Taken—Stranger with Plenty of New Knives, Seen in Beloit a Few Hours Later.

Burglars removed a panel in the side door of Baker's hardware store in Evansville early Sunday morning, and escaped with upwards of $200 worth of cutlery, revolvers, etc. Night Watchman Aspel made the rounds of the building at 1 a. m. and nothing was disturbed at that time. A stranger, who seemed long on knives, made a present of one to a railroad engineer at Beloit Sunday morning, and the inference is that he was the man who looted the store here.

Burglars broke into Crosey & Markson's hardware store in Milton Friday night and carried off $100 worth of cutlery. They secured entrance by breaking a back window, and then raising the sash. The burglars were evidently scared away, as quite an amount of fine cutlery was left and some was dropped near the window.

SOCIAL LIFE AT SEA FULL OF PLEASURE

ALL IS NOT WAR ABOARD A CRUISER.

The Officers of the U. S. Warship Chicago Lined by Society of the European Capitals—Picture of a Grand Naval Ball.

THE LIFE OF A naval officer is by no means all poetry. Indeed, there is an abundance of very prosaic and even repulsive duty in it. But there are long periods when it is rosy with many delights, and perhaps there is nothing in it more poetical and charming than a station at some of the great European or American seaports where society is at its best, and where the uniform of one's country is a sure passport to the best company. American officers who have long been entertained and feted in some foreign city, as the officers of the Chicago recently were in London and Antwerp, are never happier than when they can return some of the courtesies by giving a festival upon their own ship. There is something about a war vessel which seems to make it specially suitable for dancing purposes. The beautiful decks, so spotlessly clean, seem to have been made for the pleasure of satin-slipped feet. The illumination of the ball room which has the sky for its dome if the weather be serene, and which is protected by vast canvas awnings if there is any danger of a sudden storm, can easily be flooded with electric lights.

The sides of the ship are beautifully decorated with flags and trophies of all nations, and with gleaming cutlasses and bayonets, while here and there a monster cannon looms up black and grim to remind the merry-makers now and then that peace is maintained by being well prepared for war. Even the chaperons are happy in the novelty of the scene, and have comfortable chairs in the sheltered nooks among the guns, whence they can look out upon the promenade of their gayly-costumed charges and see that there is no outrageous flirtation with the inconstant men of the sea. To the officer who has everything before him, these balls on shipboard are like bits of paradise got up for his especial delectation. He builds upon them visions of advantageous marriage, and of entry into the great world. Many a promise destined to be broken or forgotten is made in the shadow of the frowning cannon, while the musicians are resting for a moment after the waltz or polka; and the young officer two or three years later when doing service on some gloomy and misty northern station, or sweltering in a Chinese port where there is no society, and nothing to repel the advance of ennui, remembers with a keen pang of regret those elysium moments of the ball.

When the American squadron lies for the winter at Villefranche, hard by the fashionable sea places of Nice, not far from the temptations of Monte Carlo, many are the parties, balls, receptions and dinners given on shipboard.

The beauty and luxury of the equipment of our new ships excite great admiration in Europe, and all the great ladies, wherever they come, are anxious to be invited to at least one festival on some one of these new and interesting vessels. All fashionable London poured forth to visit the Chicago on the first occasion that was offered.

Reminiscences of Inness.

A Philadelphia artist says of the late George Inness, according to the San Francisco Argonaut: "There was a strange commingling in his nature of sturdy independence and extreme sensitiveness. When a young man, one day in the streets of Rome, he struck down a helmeted gendarme, who had ordered him to remove his hat while a religious procession was passing. For this he was imprisoned and only secured his release through the strenuous efforts of the American Minister there. Yet late one afternoon, when he had worked on some foreground cows all day, when I said the cattle looked like 'camels,' he dropped his mahl-stick and palette and swooned. I dashed water on his face to bring him to and then he laughed with me over this exhibition of acute sensitiveness."

Guarding the Sacred Cows.

You will understand the despotic character of the government of Nepal, when I tell you, says a writer in St. Nicholas, that the maiming or wounding of a cow is punished by imprisonment for life, and that it is death by the sword to kill a cow, even by mischance, because the animal is sacred. The old savage law which prescribed torture to compel confession, and mutilation as a part of punishment, was in full force until after the return from England in 1851 of the enlightened prime minister, Sir Jung Bahadur, who then abolished the barbarous code.

THEY ARE MEN AT TEN.

Boys Have But a Short Childhood in Corea.

In Corea, the tiny little kingdom over which China and Japan are threatening to have such a dreadful row, the boys are called men as soon as they reach the age of ten. They receive their final names at that age, and assume the garments of full grown men, all except the horsehair hat, which they can not put on until they have passed through a period of probation. Permission to wear the horsehair hat is the final art of transforming the small boy into a real, sure-enough man—though he doesn't look it.

Such a short childhood may, at first thought, possess a charm for boys in our colder climate. But it will be quickly understood that making boys into men as soon as they are old enough to feel that they would like to be men is not a wise idea. The Coreans although possessing a certain degree of a queer kind of civilization, are not a people to be patterned after. In Corea, if a young man's parents are not rich, he can never hope to become so by his own efforts. And, if he is not a member of a noble family he can never hope to reach an exalted position. As for courage the Coreans have never shown much of that. The Corean men are not in themselves a good argument for a brief childhood.

WOMAN'S TRIALS.

SOME LIGHT ON THE SUBJECT.
So Many Suffer Without Knowing Why. Much Can Be Avoided.

[SPECIAL TO OUR LADY READERS.]

So many feel the very life crushed out of them, wake up cheerful and happy, determined to do so much before the day ends, and yet:

Before the morning is very old, the fearful backache or bearing-down feeling attacks them, the bravespiritsinks back in affright; no matter how hard they struggle, the "clutch" is upon them, and they sink into a chair, crying, "Oh! why should I suffer so?"
What can I do?"
The answer is ready, your cry has been heard, and a woman is able to restore you to health and happiness.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will stop your torture and restore your courage. All your pains come from a deranged uterus or womb.

It is the greatest of all rewards to receive such letters as the following from Miss Louise Müller, who lives at 44 Michigan Ave., in Evanston, Ill. She says:

"As I have used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and have thereby become entirely well,

I am recommending all my lady friends to use it. I am sure it will help them in all cases of womb trouble, leucorrhœa, irregular or painful "monthly periods." I am sure it is our best friend. I am so thankful to Mrs. Pinkham for the good she has done me, that I wish every sick woman in America would write to her at Lynn, Mass., and get her advice."

ACT IN SELF DEFENSE

The Louisiana sugar planters are on the right road. This country should raise its own sugar instead of paying vast sums for a supply from other countries. The policy of the republican party is to put the sugar industry on a firm foundation at home, and this has been the course of France and Germany in building up their domestic production of sugar. If Louisianians believe that this policy is right they should no longer support a party that has dealt it an unfair and remorseless blow.

Is the Louisiana democratic revolt the beginning of the inevitable break in the south? Perhaps so. If the republican recruits in the Creole State show up strongly in November there is likely to be a secession from the democratic to the republican camp in nearly every one of the ex-slave states before 1896. Politics in the south is getting highly interested.

The cities of New York owe $171,000,000, the towns $14,000,000 and the villages $2,600,000, while the counties owe less than $14,000,000. At the rate municipal indebtedness is piling up the time is coming when there will be no difficulty in keeping boys on the farm unless they want to devote their lives to paying taxes.

Some of the authorities are estimating that the corn yield will reach last year's figures, after all, or 1,600,000,000 bushels. These calculations, if they turn out to be true, will be a bul factor of considerable importance in the business situation.

Robert Schilling failed to mention the fact that Georgia, which was considered the populist stronghold, has become disgusted with the party of rank foolishness. The final verdict of the south on populism is that it is a case of sap on the brain.

Li Hung Chang, the Chinese Viceroy, lost his three-eyed peacock feather for mismanagement of the Korean campaign. Boss Wall's three-eyed peacock feather will look mighty sick after the close of the democratic campaign in Wisconsin this year.

There will be a transit of Mercury on the 10th of November, invisible to the democracy, which will be curled up on the floor from the effects of the total eclipse a few days earlier.

Crop moving is bringing money from the financial center into the interior. This feature of the fall business will soon be active, and Janesville trade will feel the effect.

Harrison will make a few speeches for his old friend Morton. In 1888 Morton helped Harrison in New York as much as Reid hurt him in 1892.

HUMOROUS HITS.

An Original Summer Girl.
 Oh, she was a summer maiden
 In a lovely summer hat,
 And she made a pretty picture
 As she in the parlor sat.

And she was the most original
 Young person of her kind
 That in my wide experience
 I can recall to mind;

For though she was a summer girl,
 Down there at Oyster bay,
 She passed the liveliest summer through
 With but one fiancé!

—Harper's Bazar.

 Dix—Of a death in the family—if the man is a good shot.—Judge.

INVENTION AND DISCOVERY.

Porcelain is to be substituted for gold in filling teeth.

An extension ladder for upper berths of sleeping cars has been devised.

From a grain of sand barely visible to the naked eye, 1,000 miles of quartz thread may be spun.

Watches were originally made in shapes to imitate pears, gourds, acorns and bird's skulls.

French railroad companies are contemplating the substitution of the telephone for the telegraph.

A wood stone is now made of sawdust, cement and magnesia, which can be sawed, planed or bored like natural wood.

An English curio collector has an old-time watch which is shaped like a cow's horn. At the end of every hour it discharges a tiny pistol.

A London chemist who analyzed a sample of "hair restorer" selling at fifty cents for a two-ounce bottle, found it to contain common water with traces of salt and sage extract.

The Scientific American has figured it out that the energy exerted by a railroad train traveling seventy-five miles an hour is nearly twice that of a 2,000-pound shot fired from a 100-ton Armstrong gun.

A lipitupian electric light has been invented for the benefit of newspaper reporters. It is fastened to the end of a pencil so that the reporter may carry his own light with him and be able to make his notes even in the darkness.

A scientific authority states that by saturating a bullet with vaseline its flight may be easily followed with the eye from the time it leaves the muzzle of the rifle until it strikes the target. The course of the bullet is marked by a ring of smoke, caused by the vaseline being ignited on leaving the muzzle of the gun.

A Hungarian chemist, Dr. Johann Antal, recently reported to the Hungarian Society of Physicians that he has discovered a new chemical compound, the nitrate of cobalt, which, he says, is a most efficacious antidote to poisoning by cyanide of potassium or prussic acid. He tried the antidote first on animals, and afterwards on forty living persons who had been accidentally poisoned with prussic acid. In not a single case did the antidote prove a failure.

Hamilton Diston as a Fruit Grower.

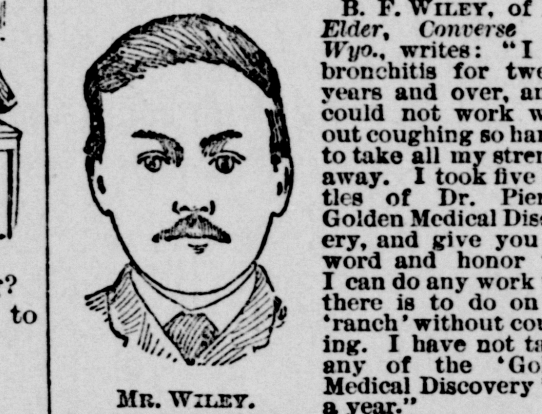

After achieving fame as the greatest manufacturer in the world, Hamilton Diston of Philadelphia may in time become the greatest fruit and vegetable grower also. He controls 2,000,000 acres of selected land in Florida, one-fourth as much as the whole state of Maryland. It is in one compact body, and after ten years of draining and experimental work he is now getting ready for colonizing it on a very extensive scale in connection with fruit and vegetable growing and sugar production. Mr. Diston now spends a considerable portion of his time in Florida, but still retains sufficient interest in Philadelphia to wield a potent influence in the Twentieth and Twenty-ninth wards when election day rolls around.

Carmen Makers Will Win.

BOSTON, Sept. 24.—The executive council of the striking garment makers held an all-day meeting yesterday. Several of the largest manufacturers have instructed their contractors to pay the rate demanded by the strikers and it is now confidently expected that the strike will end by Wednesday in a complete victory for the employees.

CURES OTHERS

For Severe, Lingering Coughs, Weak Lungs, Bleeding from Lungs, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption, in its early stages, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is a sovereign remedy. It not only cures the cough but also builds up the strength and flesh of those reduced below a healthy standard by "Wasting Diseases." Will not make fat folks more corpulent.

SHOE FACTORY TALK BY BUSINESS MEN

MARZLUFF PROPOSITION DEBATED THIS EVENING.

The Energetic Manufacturer Will Furnish a Site if Local Capitalists Will Erect a Building and Rent It for Ten Years, at Ten Per Cent on the Cost.

THE Janesville Business Men's Association will talk about a shoe factory at their quarterly meeting to be held at the association rooms this evening. President Vankirk hopes to see a full attendance of members. "F. M. Marzluff has made a number of very favorable propositions for the building of a large shoe factory here," said President Vankirk, this morning. "I think the propositions are such that we can afford to take hold of the matter. One of Mr. Marzluff's propositions is that he will furnish the site, if some one will put up the factory, he guaranteeing a rental of ten per cent of cost for ten years. That I think is a good investment, and I should like all the members to be at the meeting this evening and discuss it."

CLERK W. F. WILLIAMS, of the municipal court, went to Jefferson this afternoon, taking his court docket. He has been subpoenaed as a witness in the state against Ben Serens, to testify in relation to the case on trial here several weeks ago. Stenographer H. P. Bronson, was also a witness.

OVERHEARD—Does it pay me? Certainly it results to my benefit to keep posted as to what is going on at The Big Store. I never miss one of their newsy ads. I saw some of the loveliest fur capes down there last week, and while in, thought I would look at some dress goods. I tell you they show a stock! I looked until my eyes grew tired and decided to call again and finish up—too many to see in one day. "By the way, they are selling them awful low. Bostwick's is the place for dry goods and no mistake."

ALL Women Are Crazy.

There is an old adage which says "All women are crazy. It is no right. We must acknowledge that some women are the cause of success amongst men. But nevertheless, some women are crazy, especially those who wear bloomers. "They all have a wheel." But talk about wheels. In order to see wheels of every description you must see the saw mill in "Old Squire Haskins," the big show that holds the stage at the Myers Grand Opera House, on Thursday, September 27. See the funny street parade at noonday.

Important Points of Merit.

The Colby improved pin block receives three important points of merit:
First—Solidity of stringing and therefore solidity of vibration and superior tone quality.
Second—Easily put in tune, recognized by all tuners.
Third—Power to stay in tune longer than any other method of stringing.

All musicians say the Colby is unequalled in the market today.

Queen Victoria's Dairy.

Probably the largest dairy in the world is that owned by Queen Victoria at her model farm near Windsor. It has floors of porcelain tiles of white and blue, containing medallions of the queen, her husband and each of their children, marble columns supporting the roof and windows of stained glass bordered with daisies, buttercups, primroses and May blossoms. Bas-reliefs of the seasons and various agricultural designs complete the ornamentation, and marble tables and basins are ranged around the walls at intervals, while a perpetual stream of water runs through the building.

An Aged Engineer.

John Ebbert, who ran the first locomotive out of Chicago on the old Galena & Chicago Union railroad in 1847, is still living in Chicago at the age of 79. The road began business with an old engine, two passenger cars and forty-two miles of strap rail, bought of the Rochester & Attica division of the New York Central. Mr. Ebbert afterward became master mechanic and assistant superintendent of the Galena & Chicago Union.

Council Will Hear an Abstract of the Figures This Evening—Ex-Treasurer's Bondsman Are Not Concerned, and He Says Everything Will Be Made Clear.

There will be quite a sensation in the common council this evening. The finance committee will report on the condition of the treasury under the administration of ex-Treasurer Michael Murphy.

The details of the report are not known. A shortage of $12,000 is said to be indicated, but this is held by those in position to know to be in large measure explainable. They say that oversights in the bookkeeping are responsible, in the main, and that no evidence is found to show improper dealings with the city's funds.

Rumors concerning shortages have been manufactured and magnified by people impatient to get the facts. Some of these rumors hinted at a deficit as great as fifteen thousand dollars, but conservative people laughed at such reports. The members of the finance committee, Aldermen Baines, Child and Heddles, who have been closely connected with the work, refuse to give out anything prior to making the report to the council. They insist that the "public, at the proper time, shall have all the details."

From reliable sources, however, much has been learned. Almost at the very start, it is claimed, the expert found a mistake involving the sum of $4,500. Mr. Murphy's attention was called to it and it was explained that the sum had been transferred from the license fund to another fund. It is stated that the remainder of whatever shortage appears on the books consists of the penalties attached to tax collections.

After November 1, a penalty of 5 per cent is added to each warrant if taxes are not paid. It is claimed that the books do not show any evidence of these penalties being collected, and that during the eight years of Mr. Murphy's administration they should have amounted to about $8,000. None of Mr. Murphy's bondsmen are at all concerned over the matter. The ex-treasurer was seen, and, although not in a position to make a detailed statement until the report was published, he said:

"In due time all will be clear. Whatever irregularities may appear, will be found to be the same as the $4,500 item. This was easily set right, and it will be so with the rest."

Arthur Frickenshur, of Chicago, the brilliant pianist who was Nikita's accompanist during her United States tour, is in the city for a few days and a small company in his honor was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Wright, on South Jackson street Saturday evening. Mr. Frickenshur, whose breadth of scope is no less remarkable than his delicacy of treatment and sympathy of interpretation was heard in selections from Beethoven, Brahms, Schumann, Chopin, Liszt and Grieg. Miss Marie Wilcox sang, and afforded much pleasure. Among the guests were: Mesdames Chapman, of Denver; I. A. Whiffen, R. C. Yeomans, James Harris, G. H. Osgood and E. F. Woods. Misses Harris, Sayles, Brown, Whiffen, Wilcox, Capelle, Macloen, Smiley and Stillman; and Messrs. I. A. Whiffen, E. E. Layton, Isaac Phillips, Aurora. R. J. Hart, Chris Stinson and Roscoe Whiffen.

Why Not Speak the Truth.

In Sunday's Recorder was an article in regard to some young lady and gentleman meeting on the bridge and making up. It was also stated that the young man had a ring in pawn, which at one time had been worn by the young lady in question, as an engagement ring. We will state for the benefit of the young lady and gentleman, and the "fresh" reporter, that the young man referred to, never pawned a ring with us. Had he done so, however, it would never have been known, as our business is strictly confidential. We always attend to our own business, and keep our own council, which is much more than can be said for the reporter.

We Sell Monarch Tea.

Because we advertised Monarch tea at fifty cents a pound, with a cash rebate of ten cents a pound, our competitor, who sells at fifty cents a pound with a rebate of ten cents in silverware, claims to have "the only Monarch tea in Janesville." Such a statement is not true. We have always sold Monarch tea, as it is Reid, Murdoch & Co's brand, and having traveled for them for several years, we know it is not their policy to give one merchant in a town the exclusive sale of the Monarch brand. We shall say more if more is needed to be said.

JANESVILLE CARRIAGE WORKS.

A queer name.

"Fair-play men" was the title given to a part of Lycoming county, Pa., now densely populated and dotted with prosperous towns and cities. The proprietary government, with a view to protecting Indians from intrusion, had forbidden the survey and settlement of the region, but some hard-treated and hard-handed Scotch-Irish pioneers found their way into the forbidden territory, and, being outside the immediate jurisdiction of any properly constituted tribunal, they chose three of their number to settle disputes, and called them fair-play men. The decision of this tribunal, especially as to boundaries, were enforced by the whole community, and came in time to be respected even by the courts. When a chief justice of Pennsylvania asked one of the first pioneers what were the features of the fair-play code, the pioneer is reported to have answered that since his honor's court had found its way into the region fair play had fled and law had taken its place.

An Arch of Gold Coins.

A novelty in the way of triumphal arches was seen when the governor general of India visited Rangoon not long back. One structure, very handsomely decorated to begin with, was still further enriched by being covered with gold mohurs and real sovereigns—valuable coins in India—worth over $50,000, each mohur being equal to fifteen rupees. The coins were stuck to the red cloth with a glue that had been specially prepared for the purpose, and was no doubt sufficiently strong to keep the gold pieces quite safe from any attempt to steal them.

COUNCIL DARE NOT LOAN CITY FUNDS

ATTORNEY M'ELROY SAYS IT IS EMBEZZLEMENT.

Will Make This Report to the Aldermen—Treasurer Fathers Will Take No Action Unless Others Assume the Responsibility—Charter Clear on the Subject.

"Neither the city treasurer, nor the common council, can loan the city money for any purpose," said City Attorney McElroy this afternoon. "I am reluctant to make this statement. I would like very much to see the city get something for the large amount of money it now has on deposit, but the city charter I think is very clear, in respect to loaning money in the treasury, or investing it in any manner. It makes everyone concerned in the loan liable to prosecution for embezzlement. There is no way that I can see to avoid it, although in this case nobody would be likely to commence an action."

City Treasurer Fathers was first to suggest that the money be loaned, but now that he has posted himself on the law governing city funds, will take no responsibility in the matter.

"At the suggestion of the council I have informed the banks that I will receive propositions for the money, which propositions I intend to present to the council this evening," said Treasurer Fathers this afternoon. "I will do just as the council directs me." The chances are that the council will not direct the loaning of the funds.

ILL-MANNERED DOWAGERS.

An Englishman's Lament Over Scenes Common in London Ballrooms.

A writer in an English newspaper has uttered a wail concerning the degeneracy of the age, says the New York Sun, and cites examples of the great falling off in manners in what are generally called in Great Britain the upper circles to prove it. If half he says is true he makes out a very good case. He asserts that in London ballrooms one finds the chaperons, ladies often of mature years, struggling for seats like so many football men in a scramble. He objects to what he calls "their calm insolence and their tricks and devices to get the better of one another." He alleges that a couple of dowagers will, when seated on each side of a third, talk across her for an hour or more so eagerly that their chins almost meet in front of the sufferer. Dowagers have offended him seriously. The critic notices the recent stringent rules at the queen's drawing-rooms, and says that they were necessary. Nothing milder, in his opinion, would check the crowding and pushing which have now converted the scene of a great state ceremonial into a lively bear garden. Then there is the ill-mannered chatter with which occupants of stalls and boxes at the theater interrupt the performance. This censor of public manners finds that the most hopeless feature is the behavior of the rising generation.

SKILLED IN SOFT PHRASES.

The Honest Tramp Who Had Never Seen Better Days.

The tramp, whom the lady of the house had admitted to the kitchen table and was giving a dinner of her own cooking, was such a pleasant looking fellow that she became quite interested in him. After busying about awhile she ventured into conversation.

"You have not always been in this business, have you?" she asked.

"No, madam," he replied briefly. "Ah, I thought so. You have seen better days, then?"

He looked at the fine piece of pie and big glass of cold milk she set down on the table for him to finish on, and laid down his knife and fork.

"If you mean by better days, madam," he said, "that I have not always been a tramp, I will reply, 'Yes,' but if you mean by better days that I have ever had pleasanter surroundings than the present, or that I have surrounded pleasanter things," and he blushed, "I will say emphatically that I have not," and the good woman was so pleased that she almost wanted to take him as a permanent boarder.

MY PEARLS.

I have a string of pearls
Untarnished, perfect and fair—
Eight—but the angels came one day
And I placed one in their care.

Seven are left me, priceless gems,
Perfect as any you'll see,
And only our Heavenly Father knows
How precious they are to me.

Three are large ones, fully grown.
Then there's an odd one there,
It shines between with mischievous gleam.
Then three "like steps in a stair."

A DESPERADO.

A company of gentlemen sat in the office of the Hotel Palomares in Pomona the other evening waiting for a late train to Los Angeles. Each one of the party had every one else, cigars were freely passed around, and all were enjoying a talk about early experiences on the frontier, and especially in southern California, before railroads were built in this region. The best story of the evening was told by Colonel John Williamson, one of the most important orange growers in southern California. "From 1873 until 1878," he said, "I was engaged by a Chicago lumber company to travel through the country from Denver to St. Louis to look up openings for lumber yards. It was my business to visit new towns and settlements, and when I found men of capital in them to induce them to go into the lumber business and buy of the Chicago concern. At that time Ogallala, on the Union Pacific railroad, was famous throughout the country as the toughest place in the west. Then Dodge City, Kan., came into prominence for its cowboy episodes and the rough, tough and desperate character of a large portion of its residents. I passed a night in Dodge City in October, 1876, and I assure you that I came quickly to the conclusion that life in any other town would be tame and without excitement in comparison with the pleasures that place could afford.

"On one side of the railroad track stood a big barnlike building called the Americo-Mexican hotel, and on the other a row of 30 or 35 one story frame houses, almost every one of which was a barroom, with a gambling house attached. Over the doors hung such signs as 'Cowboys' Retreat,' 'The Divan' and 'The Frontiersman's Delight.' Behind the town, on top of the hill, was the city graveyard. An immense cross stood at the top of the hill and served as a landmark for travelers for miles and miles across the barren prairies. That graveyard was the pride of every man who lived in Dodge City. The inhabitants watched it grow and pointed with pleasure to the fact that there was hardly a man taking his final rest there who had not come to his death by violence.

"It was toward afternoon when I halted my horse in front of the Americo-Mexican hotel after a 40 mile ride. Heavily armed men stood about in groups. The looks thrown at me were far from reassuring, but I pretended not to see them and hastened into the hotel. Hardly had I taken my seat in the dining room when four men, evidently forming a delegation, approached me. They demanded to know what brought me to Dodge City in a way which left me no alternative but to answer. My answers seemed satisfactory, and one of them informed me the reason of their curiosity. They had some idea that I was a deputy sheriff and frankly told me that if I had been I should have been escorted out of town, as no government officers were wanted about Dodge City that night. They further informed me that there was to be one of the prettiest lynchings in town that night that had ever taken place.

"Three men had come to Dodge City 10 weeks before and had taken the town by storm. They had made their headquarters at a tavern almost opposite the hotel and had levied a tax on every one who entered. Anybody who objected to paying or standing treat was beaten, and when resistance was shown pistols were used. Ten men had received death wounds from these three men, and the town had determined to set an example to all such characters by hanging the three without ceremony. It was not easy, however, to accomplish this, as the men were entrenched in the barroom and refused to come out or allow any one to enter. It had been determined to dislodge them that night in spite of all resistance, and I was invited to take part in the affair. The men were named Hank Martin, Jack Willis and Wat Simmons and were desperate outlaws, with large sums upon their heads.

"Just at dark the citizens of Dodge City prepared for battle. The attacking parties were divided into two forces. One approached the point of attack from the rear, while the larger number marched up to the front. All the citizens were handkerchiefs over their faces. I was in the main body of attackers, or rather behind it. We were brought to a sudden halt by a rifle shot from one of the windows of the besieged house, and one of our leaders fell. Various means were tried to dislodge the three men, but to no purpose. Every time the slightest advance was made their rifles rang out, and some one on our side dropped. At last a small man slipped up in the shadow of the adjacent building and threw a lighted can of kerosene under the building. Soon it began to burn. At last it was enveloped in flames, and the three men were obliged to rush for their lives. They were half blinded by the heat and smoke of the burning building, so they were quickly captured.

"Then all the citizens of Dodge City, not excepting the women and children, formed in line and marched down to the cattle pens, where an old tree stood that had served several times as a gallows. A rope had been brought along, and it was quickly thrown over a branch and everything was ready for the hanging. It was at first intended to dispose of all three at the same time, but there was not enough rope, so it was decided to hang one at a time. Jack

Willis was the first to be strung up. His end was hastened by a dozen bullets, which were fired into the body while it was still writhing. Wat Simmons was then disposed of.

"Next came the turn of Hank Martin, and all held their breath when the boldest desperado known on the plains in those days was brought out. Just as the big, powerful fellow was led under the tree he made a sign that he wanted to say something. The gag was removed from Martin's mouth, and he said: "If you will take this rope from around my neck and slightly loosen these bonds, I will tell you men something that will interest you all."

"There seemed no danger, with so many on guard, so his request was complied with. When his fetters were loosened, he rose, stretched himself and began his speech:

"You are a set of villains," he yelled, "and you can all go to hell!" "He knocked down the two men nearest to him and made a dash for the sagebrush on the open prairie. All the horses were left outside the barroom when the desperadoes were captured. A few men dashed into the sage after Martin, which made it impossible for the men under the tree to use their guns, lest they hit some of the pursuers. After an hour's useless chase the hunt was given up for the night.

"At daylight the next morning a ranchman rode into Dodge City and electrified the town by saying he had seen Martin near Fort Leary, 16 miles below. He said he had just finished his breakfast when a hatless man, whom he recognized as Martin, came in and demanded shelter. The ranchman suspected something was wrong from the man's manner and at once started for Dodge City and gave the alarm. Thirty men immediately saddled their horses and started in pursuit of the man they had avowed to hang. As they approached the hut a man appeared in the door with a Winchester rifle in his hand. Without a word he opened fire on the advancing party. Two men dropped from their saddles, and as the rest of the party put spurs to their horses and dashed toward the hut Martin, who had done the shooting, rushed down the hill and plunged into the Fox river. There had been heavy rains, and the river was a torrent, which made it seem impossible that a man could reach the other side alive. All the horsemen drew up along the bank and waited in readiness to shoot Martin should he by any chance get across. They waited half an hour, and as there was no sight of him they returned to Dodge City. That afternoon the other two desperadoes were buried in what is known as 'Murderers' row,' and beside the graves was placed a board, 'To the memory of Hank Martin, drowned in the Fox river while escaping capture.'

"Two years after leaving Dodge City I chanced to be in a little Texas town that I don't want to mention here. A man passed me on the street one day whose face was strikingly familiar. I turned to my companion and asked who it was.

"That," said he, "is Henry Martin, one of our most respected citizens."

"Suddenly the scene of the lynching at Dodge City came back to me, and I knew that the last time I had seen that man he was standing under a tree with a rope around his neck. I told my friend the story, and he evidently doubted my sanity, if not my veracity. He told me that Martin came to the town early in 1879, when it was first started. He invested money in town lots and made a fortune. He was a promoter of schools and churches and was talked of for the next mayor. That night I was at my hotel when a tall man, with a slouched hat, walked in. He looked round and then came straight to me.

"Are you the man," he said, "who has been telling a yarn about Hank Martin being lynched?"

"I acknowledged that I was.

"Well," he replied, "Henry told me to tell you that he would shoot you on sight if you were in town tomorrow."

"Two hours later I was taking a night ride across the prairies."—Kansas City Times.

Extraordinary Longevity In Chile.

The last census of Chile furnishes some interesting statistics relative to longevity of certain representatives of the human race, who live in that far away corner of "Latin" or "Spanish" America. According to the figures in question, in the 23 provinces of Chile the enumerators found 211 men and 273 women who had passed the century milestone. One man, Rafael Munoz of Colchagua, was returned as being 150 years of age. The oldest woman was 138. Of the other "old timers" they found one man 135 and two women 132, one man 130, one over 127, one woman 125 and three men and four women 120, one man 122 and three women 121; 20 women and eight men gave in their ages as 120, and two women acknowledged to being past 119; five women and three men over 100, 240 were women and 195 were men. The most remarkable exhibit in the whole array is the one which shows that 53 women and 38 men gave in their ages as 110.—St. Louis Republic.

Diamonds In the Meteors.

Professor Berthelot has pointed out that in the writings of Avicenna there is mention of a metallic aerolite which fell in Djorjak, in central Asia, in the eleventh century which could neither be broken nor worked up into arms or tools. One of the blocks of native iron found at Oviyak, in Greenland, in 1870, is so hard that it can neither be scratched nor cut, and Professor Nordenskjold suggests that this may be due to the presence of black diamonds disseminated through the iron.

BRIEF BITS OF HUMOR.

Seeking a Separation.
 "Do you give gas here?" asked a wild-looking man who rushed into a dentist's office on Clark street yesterday morning.
 "We do," replied the dentist.
 "Does it put a fellow to sleep?"
 "It does."
 "Sound asleep, so you can't wake him up?"
 "Yes."
 "You could break his jaw or gouge out his eye and he wouldn't feel it?"
 "He would know nothing of it."
 "How long does it make him stay asleep?"
 "The physical insensibility produced by inhaling the gas lasts a minute or probably a little less."
 "I guess that's long enough. Got it all ready for a fellow to take?"
 "Yes. Take a seat in this chair and show me your tooth."
 "Tooth nothing!" said the excited caller, beginning rapidly to remove his coat and vest. "I want you to pull a porous plaster off my back."—Chicago Tribune.

Proof Positive.

"You don't tell me that bright, pretty Mrs. — has been placed in a private asylum!"
 "Yes; but they held back from taking that step until last week, when the evidence of her insanity became too marked to admit of doubt."
 "What did she do?"
 "Nothing. But she told her husband that she thought their baby was one of the ugliest, most stupid infants she had ever seen."—Brooklyn Life.

Well Known.

"I want you to publish these poems in book form," said a seedy-looking man to a New York publisher.
 Publisher—"I'll look over them, but I cannot promise to bring them out unless you have a well-known name."
 Poet—"That's all right. My name is known wherever the English language is spoken."
 "Ah, indeed! What is your name?"
 "John Smith."—White Plains Weekly.

A Modified Statement.

Little Girl—"You study music, don't you?"
 Miss Screecher—"Yes, I am still studying."
 "Uncle George said he heard your voice as he passed your house last evening."
 "Let-me-see. I really don't believe I did any singing last evening."
 "Oh, he didn't say you did sing. He only said you were trying to."—Good News.

And So They Were Married.

Tom Jynne—So Jamison has been ensnared at last?
 Rocquand Righe—Yes; he always was a practical fellow. He could have had any one of a dozen heiresses, but he passed them all by and married a seamstress.
 Tom Jynne—And how has their married life turned out?
 Rocquand Righe—Oh, sew, sew.—N. Y. World.

She Chose Her Own Language.

In an agony of suspense he knelt at her feet.
 "Say yes," he pleaded, "only say yes."
 She turned away with a gesture of impatience.
 "I must insist," she replied, firmly, "upon being allowed full latitude as to phraseology and choice of words."—Town Topics.

A Practical Consideration.

"What are we to do with the anarchists?" asks the man who studies political economy.
 "Why, when they break the law we can put them in the penitentiary."
 "Yes, we can do that. But I hate like everything to demoralize the penitentiary."—Washington Star.

A LITTLE MISUNDERSTANDING.

On the outside of the zebra's cage in the zoological garden Prof. Zweibecker sees a sign with the inscription "Caution—Fresh Paint." This leads the professor to remark to his better half: "Well, well, I would have taken an oath that the stripes on the animal are genuine."—Fliegende Blätter.

On the Steamboat.

Adams—What are you reading?
 Brown—It is a very useful book for those who don't know how to swim.
 "How so?"
 "If you fall overboard all you have to do is to turn to page fifty-seven and read the directions and you are safe."—Alex Sweet, in Texas Sittings.

Not Stayers.

Hashaway—Does Mrs. Oliphant keep a good many boarders now?
 Dashaway—Yes, she does; generally for about two days or a week.—Chicago Record.

To Be Sure!

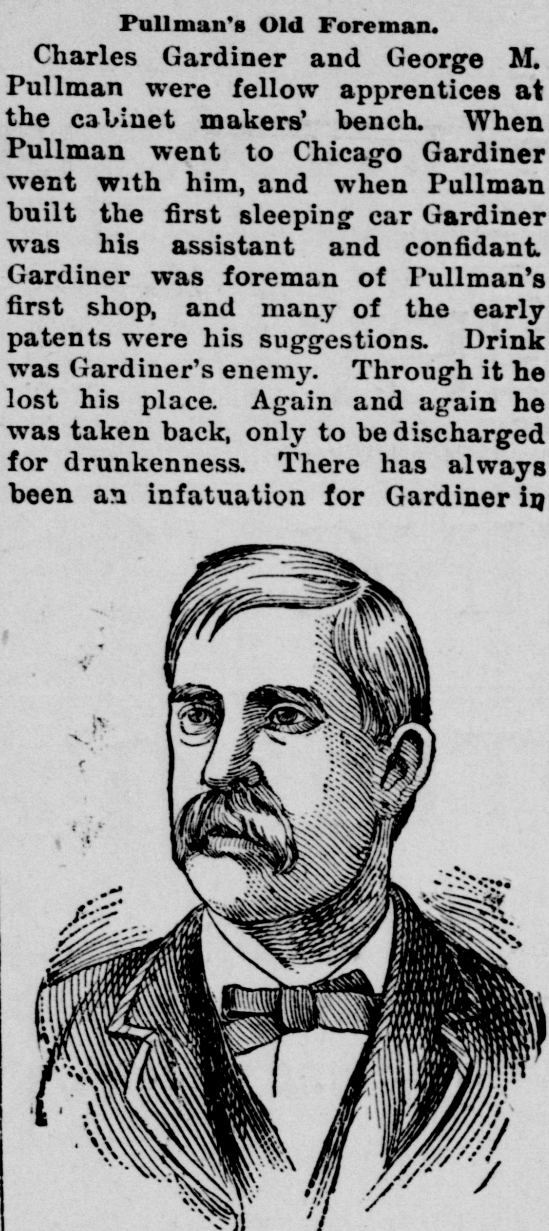

Boggs—Is there no ornithological name for riches?
 Soggs—I don't know. Why?
 Boggs—Do they not take unto themselves wings and fly away?—Judge.

Then She Was Angry.

Mrs. Jabber (to Mr. Jabber)—Are you aware that you talk in your sleep?
 Young Jabber (who has just been silenced)—What other chance does he get?—Scribner's Magazine.

In the Spring Time.

"Art thou weary, art thou languid?" the whole church choir screamed; "Then take Ficker's Sarsaparilla."—Sang the advertising dand.

Pullman's Old Foreman.

Charles Gardiner and George M. Pullman were fellow apprentices at the cabinet makers' bench. When Pullman went to Chicago Gardiner went with him, and when Pullman built the first sleeping car Gardiner was his assistant and confidant. Gardiner was foreman of Pullman's first shop, and many of the early patents were his suggestions. Drink was Gardiner's enemy. Through it he lost his place. Again and again he was taken back, only to be discharged for drunkenness. There has always been an infatuation for Gardiner in the works. He has gone daily into the shops, looked at the men working, begged a few dimes and gone to the nearest saloon. He pleaded guilty to habitual drunkenness recently, and was sent to the Washington Home.

LOOKOUT FOR MASSACHUSETTS MEN.

Here is food for thought in a question propounded by a Boston woman: "What would prevent," she asks, "if we were to have universal suffrage in Massachusetts, our disfranchising the male population? Nothing in the world if we are united. There are 49,000 more women than men in this state, and we should have it all our own way, and would soon be masters of the political situation."

Feminine Culture.

"People lift their eyebrows," says William Morris, the English poet, "over women mastering the higher mathematics. Why, it is infinitely more difficult to learn the details of good housekeeping. Anybody can learn mathematics, but it takes a lot of skill to manage a house well."

Economize.

One and a half teaspoonfuls Horsford's Baking Powder gives better results than two full teaspoonfuls of any other.

Fatal Wreck on the "Big Four."
SPRINGFIELD, O., Sept. 24.—Yesterday morning a serious wreck occurred on the "Big Four" at Harshmans, about eighteen miles west of this city. The excursion train going west collided with an east-bound freight. Gilbert Muntz of this city was killed and Charles Crawford and Taylor Hess, also of this city, were seriously injured and will probably die.

Jealousy Costs Two Lives.
PHOENIX, Ariz., Sept. 24.—Thomas Secrist, engineer at the Mammoth mine of Goldfield, murdered his wife last evening, shooting her, and then committing suicide by shooting himself in the temple. The couple came here from Denver, Colo., a little over a year ago. The motive is supposed to be jealousy, but some think Secrist was of unsound mind.

Roman Catholic College Burned.
OAKLAND, Cal., Sept. 24.—St. Mary's Roman Catholic college was burned last evening. The flames reached considerable headway before the fire department arrived. The loss will reach nearly $200,000. It was one of the largest colleges on this coast.

May Cause Americans Trouble.
SAN SALVADOR, Sept. 24.—There is a strong feeling in government circles against Americans and hard times are in store for them on account of the belief that there was no intention of extraditing Gen. Antonio Ezeta.

MONEY SAVING CLOTHING.

The price of clothing is no criterion of its value. Imitation goods are being sold at about the same prices we ask for the genuine.

Genuine Qualities at Imitation Prices

Is money-saving clothing. But we not only save you money in the service, we give you additional worth in fashion and fit.

Our Stylish Clothing

made with the BEST merchant tailor care, has an advantage over the common sorts which ought to command merchant tailor prices, but which with our facilities for manufacturing we sell at the same prices asked for the common sorts. Those who know us and wear our clothing can and do testify to its money saving qualities, and others are fast finding it out.

4 Styles of Camel hair all extra fine made garments only $1, 1.25, 1.50, 2

LUCERNE a new idea in Underwear made by the Lucerne Knitting Mills. A great seller, same garment usually sells at $2 each. Our price, don't fail to see it $1.50

4 Styles Swit's Conde fancy Stripe, light, medium and heavy weights $1.50, 2, 2.50, 3

Medium priced Underwear, 4 styles. Extra heavy ribbed. Tan and white with heavy fleeced lining at 50c, 75c

The more you see of those Pickwick suits, Poole, Pad-dock and Chesterfield overcoats, the more you'll admire them. Deft fingers, tireless brains, ceaseless energy and master workmanship, have evolved marvelously good things at surprisingly low prices for the season of 1894, and there isn't a suit in the whole of our magnificent stock that isn't the product of 1894.
